

Innovative regeneration for handball players

Reboots becomes official supplier of the German Handball Federation

Schluechtern, April 26, 2023 - The German company now equips the national teams of the German Handball Federation with the innovative devices so that players can return to their peak performance more quickly. These include the U21 men's home World Cup, the 2023 Women's World Cup and the 2024 men's home European Championship.

Fast starts, stops and turning movements put a lot of strain on the muscles and joints of handball players. With the help of regeneration products from the family-owned company Reboots, the national teams of the German Handball Federation regenerate more effectively in the future. An optimal balance between training and recovery ultimately determines long-term athletic success.

Dr. Philip Lübke, chief association physician of the German Handball Federation, says: "Handball has a strong influence on body and mind, challenges and encourages; from youth to senior national teams. An essential part of maintaining and promoting performance is recovery. With Reboots, we now have a partner on our side who can support our national teams very well with the high load and the necessary regeneration, so that our top players can maintain and even increase their performance in the long term. The whole team is very happy about the cooperation."

Diverse products sharing the same goal: Optimal regeneration

The compression massage of the Recovery Pants helps players to eliminate waste products that accumulate in the muscles during high exertion. These metabolic waste products, such as lactate, are responsible for muscle fatigue. Targeted compression allows the muscles to recover better and more efficiently. The result: accelerated regeneration, minimized risk of inflammation and injury, and increased performance in the long term.

Moreover, Reboots brings expertise in the area of power napping. This can have a profound impact on alertness and athletic performance. With the Reboots Recharge Set, players can give themselves a short rest before competitions to achieve mental clarity and improved concentration.

From professional to amateur sports - everyone deserves optimal regeneration

Reboots already supports a large number of athletes from a wide range of sports: from triathlon to crossfit and winter sports. The company has set itself the goal of offering passionate and ambitious athletes an optimal regeneration and thus support the achievement of their athletic goals and dreams.
