Single block body structure made of a special material is used for official competition tables. Multi-layered poplar covered by MDF panels is used to obtain a very resistant and solid combination capable of absorbing the toughest match actions. The quality and the solidity of the multilayer is boosted by two MDF laminate panels on its external sides which guarantees the side board absorption of the ball hit and precision of side shots. Etched glass grants outstanding performance during the high speed playing methods and high ball control in the "gioco a ganci" playing method. The ball slits on both sides facilitates picking the ball up.
